PROJECT

Hepp, is zurich based Daniel Hepp.

Spezialmaterial's newcomer Hepp will release his by now no-named EP in October. This can only mean one thing: Thou shalt be massaged by massive bass sounds!

As soon as Hepp gets busy on his electronic stew, it's obvious that he'd got his hands on drumsticks very early on. From polyrhythmic live recordings of instrumental collages in the tradition of Mice Parade to more technoid bass sculptures; Hepp hauls electronica into the new age safe and sound, lays it down on dubby sub basses and rocks straight into the brain stem.

As a master of the understatement he keeps his basses tender and smooth at first to then take the synthetic play to extremes with the bass sounds reaching new depths. Following the precise construction of the tracks, you will no doubt succumb to the spheres of Hepp's sounds.

Hepp has massaged souls in countless dj-sets far from any minimal hype. The sounds of the vinyl fetishist work like a cure in the droopy Swiss dj-scene and proves that deep and cryptic dance gems leave more of a mark than nodding dog-house that keeps the stylo gramps and grannies on the leash.

Laid, layered and mixed with Heppish precision ... like one of those expensive Swiss watches.
